Is é an sprioc leis an tsraith seo ná:

Forbairt phobail agus cleachtas sa rannpháirteachas dhaonlathach a éascú a chuimsíonn plé agus díospóireacht chruthaitheach chuiditheach fheasach ag leibhéal an phobail. Tá sé d'aidhm againn an chosmhuintir s'againn a spreagadh maidir le ceisteanna fán stair, fán pholaitíocht agus fán cheartas shóisialta ar bhealach a chothaíonn tuiscint níos leithne fán stair agus fán tsocháí le do dtig linn fás mar phobal agus todhchaí níos daonna agus níos cothroime a shamhlú.

Creideann muid gur oscail spás sainiúil mar gheall ar an ghéarchéim Covid-19 le haghaidh athmhachnamh criticiúil agus chun smaointe útóipeacha a chíoradh agus a phlé sa tuiscint gur féidir agus gur chóir teacht ar bhealach malartacha le bheith ag maireachtáil agus ag reachtáil na sochaí s'againn ar bhealach níos cothroime agus níos inmharthana sa tréimhse amach romhainn.

Awkward Voices

Imagining a new world

Glór na Móna's new talk series called 'Awkward Voices' - Imagining a new world- which comprises a series of public interviews with prominent activists, writers and academics via zoom covering history, politics, philosophy, sociology, sociolinguistics, health and environment

Its aim is to:

Facilitate community growth and participatory democracy practices by fostering informed, inclusive, creative and constructive debate and discussion. By critically engaging working-class communities on issues of history, politics and social justice, we aim to promote a greater understanding of our past in order that we can grow as a community in a more just and humane future.

We believe that the Covid crisis has opened a unique space for critical reflection in which utopian ideas can be discussed and engaged with in the understanding that we can and should find alternative ways of being and organising our society in a fairer and more sustainable way in the time ahead.
